

New Health Policy Issue Briefs available from AAFP's EveryONE Project

Check out new policy issue briefs from AAFP's EveryONE Project covering topics such as food insecurity, health literacy, and socioeconomic status. These briefs are succinct, versatile, and actionable. They give family physicians evidence-based recommendations they can incorporate into practice, as well as information they can use when speaking with policymakers, administrators and other stakeholders about important health equity topics. Learn more here.